Chairman's Address – 2019 Annual General Meeting

Good afternoon Ladies and Gentlemen:

My name is Tim Goyder, Executive Chairman and major Shareholder of Chalice Gold Mines. Thank you for joining me and my fellow Directors at today's AGM.

As you all know, Chalice has a long history of success in project generation, acquisition and exploration. Coupled to this is its pragmatic commercial approach, where it has made timely divestments to generate returns for our Shareholders.

I am pleased to say that the past year has been no exception, with the Company undertaking a capital return to shareholders of ~$10.6 million in December 2018 and, more recently, the successful sale of our Canadian Projects to O3 Mining Inc in an approximately $12 million scrip + cash + royalty deal in July 2019.

Over the course of its history, Chalice has generated an impressive $107 million in after-tax proceeds from asset sales and returned $36 million to shareholders – an enviable track record which means the Company has not undertaken a single equity capital raising in almost a decade.

Not many explorers boast such a position and, with working capital and investments at the end of last quarter of approximately $30 million and a strong and highly skilled team, we are able to think and act in our own league in terms of our strategic and exploration approach.

As I said in the Annual Report, we believe that the global deficit in tier-1 scale mineral discoveries (those with an NPV of >US$1 billion) continues to present a serious challenge for the industry.

Worldwide, these major discoveries now represent less than 2 per cent of all discoveries, and I believe there is a compelling long-term value proposition in hunting for the next major find.

With this in mind, the Company has assembled two outstanding exploration opportunities in Australia. I am going to leave it to our Managing Director, Alex Dorsch, to talk in more detail about the exciting activities currently underway at these projects, and the outlook for 2020.

I remain confident that Chalice has assembled all the necessary ingredients – a robust balance sheet, refined strategic focus, high-quality assets and, importantly, a hard-working, energetic and capable executive team – to deliver success in the year ahead.

I would like to thank Alex for his vision and commitment in helping us get to this position and of course our hard-working team, and I would also like thank our shareholders and my fellow directors for their continued and valued support.

Tim Goyder
Executive Chairman
